

“I’M ONLY HERE FOR THE COCK”

Marrickville, Fri 13 Nov 2025:

In what was a brazen shameless confession, NPC front-runner Dave C announced that he was only in attendance to get his hands on the prized cock that he has already held in his grasp 3 times previously. And judging by his current score that looks mightily possible. However, the NPC has never made it too easy for anyone to simply grab the cock without fierce competition and endless surprises. With 10 potential winners, anything could happen on the night of the final. Could it be dark horse candidate Aidan who amazed all by clawing his way into the first week’s final without sinking a black and then picked up a further 14 points in the second week holding onto a spot in the top 3. Third-placed Garth improved his ranking significantly after his disastrous first week 4-point tally by powering into the second-week finals against Dave C who convincingly whooped his ass.

Aidan continued his lucky streak of winning through the folly of others when he did it again, this time to Peter T in the first round when the luckless Peter T went in-off the black. Aidan then went on to lose in a tight game against Marcus.

First-timer Craig discovered the true meaning of premature eblackulation after sinking the black with only one of his balls down. This let Phil R (3 times NPC winner and farmer) into the second round only to be trashed by juggernaut Garth pushing all aside to gain entry to the final.

Another player suffering from the dreaded premmie was Bud. After a convincing win against

Ben, Bud’s luck changed in the next game after sinking the black with only 3 balls down. Not wanting to be left out, Pat performed his own near-perfect premmie in his buyback game against Peter T on his second shot coming so close to beating Craig’s record.

The crowd went into a frenzy upon the entry of beloved struggler Dave G who had missed the first week owing to what some suspected to be a gender or preference changing procedure. In fact, some believe this happened on the night as Dave’s headgear magically morphed from a rather dull blue and white version to his more well-known rainbow attire. When queried on this, Dave replied that his rainbow headband makes him feel “hypersexual” but would not elaborate further. It was suggested that he take the matter up with the global GASP* Naming Committee to have hypersexual added to the already lengthy letter salad – LGBTQIAH+. Upon reaching the 3rd round, Dave was heard to enthusiastically utter “Crushing the rainbow!” - likely his latest war-cry. More words of wisdom followed as, mid-game, he exclaimed “The balls are round” leaving the audience dumbfounded and wondering whether it was caused by too much medication or insufficient.

No shows from both Dean and John L this week sealed their position at the very bottom of the table with a paltry single point apiece although they now share that honour with Craig with all 3 now jostling for the not-so-coveted wooden spoon.

One of the many shocks of the night was Paul’s first round game against Dave C. After his very commendable first week run and 2nd place-getting with 37 points, Paul succumbed in his first game and added only 4 points to his tally.

Other notable 1st round winners included:

- Ally – another dark horse with a creditable 25 points
- Newcomer Nick who jumped straight into the top 10 at #6
- Jade who made it to the 2nd round leaving partner Paul wallowing in his 1st round fail

Other notable 1st round losers included:

- Alex - now out of the top 10 and no longer a possible contender. Devastated and currently undergoing a well-overdue psych evaluation
- Francois – “Il me faut un autre verre” – whatever the f*ck that means
- Pat who after performing so well in the 2024 NPC didn’t go quite so well this year

The rankings after week 2 with those with any chance to grab the cock highlighted in green:
